

Allenstown Public Library Materials Donation Policy

The Allenstown Public Library accepts donations of books and other materials, provided they are in good condition. The Library retains the authority to accept or reject donations, understanding that the same selection standards are applied to gifts and donations as to materials acquired by purchase.

Donations become the sole property of the Library, and the Library's staff makes all decisions regarding their use, housing, and final disposition. Materials that are not accepted can be donated to Discovery Books via the donation bin in the library parking lot at any time. The Library does not evaluate or appraise gift materials for tax purposes.